Didn't Know.

He gave me a knife one day at school,
Four-bladed, the handle of pearl—
And great black words on the wrapper said,
"For the darling little girl."
I was glad—Oh yes, the crimson blood
To my young cheek came and went,
And my heart thumped wonderously pit-a-pat;
But I didn't know what it meant.

One night he said I must jump on his sled,
For the snow was falling fast;
I was half afraid, but he coaxed and coaxed,
And he got me on at last.
Laughing and chatting in merry glee;
To my home his course he bent;
And my horses looked at each other and smiled;
But I didn't know what it meant.

The years passed on, and they touched his eye
With a shadow of deeper blue;
They gave to his form a manlier grace—
To his cheek a swarther hue.
We stood by the dreamily rippling brook,
When the day was almost spent,
His whispers were soft as the lullaby;
And—now I know what it meant!

Dickie Lee.

I wonder now if Dickie Lee
Locks back across the years,
Smiling perhaps, at the thought of me,
And the funny times we used to see,
In that school-house dim of yore!
On the little bench close by the door,
The little bench that would hold but four—
Janie, Lois, Dickie and me—
And the lambs of the flock were we.

I wonder now if he ever thinks
Of the dreadful time he stole the pinkie
And roses rare to give to me!
And what befell poor Dickie Lee!

They tell me that my Dickie Lee
Is a man of wealth and pride;
That he has ships upon the sea,
Titles, too, of a high degree,
And that a lady became his bride.
Very well, so let it be,
Dickie have I been as he.

MAYSVILLE, FEBRUARY 18, 1864.

A movement is on foot among the Missouri Conservatives to run Gen. Frank P. Blair, Jr., for next Governor of that State.

Seven thousand out of thirteen thousand mules have perished in one corral at Chattanooga, owing to the lack of food and proper treatment.

Pekin, China, has the oldest newspaper in the world. It has been published for one thousand years, and is printed on a large sheet of silk.

The United States corvette St. Louis left Lisbon on the 25th to intercept an English bark with guns and stores for the rebel cruiser Rappahannock.

A wag once remarked that the reason why unmarried ladies looked so often at the moon, was the vulgar belief that there was a man in it. Base slander.

The Duke of Cleveland died at Roby Castle in England on the 18th ult.

Nicholas McCormick, a wealthy bachelor of Jefferson, Iowa, froze to death in bed during the recent cold snap. An awful warning against sleeping alone.

A negro undergoing an examination, when asked if his master was a Christian, replied, "No, sir, he's a member of Congress."

A party of four or five fishermen were picked up on Tuesday night by guerrillas while engaged in fishing in Pohich, below Mount Vernon.

The total number of sheep killed by dogs in Kentucky last year, as shown by the report of the State Auditor, amounts to 10,012—valued at $20,226.

In St. Paul, Minnesota, there are from 7,000 to 9,000 Catholics, and 2,245 Protestants.

General Sherman's headquarters are reported to have been at Jackson on the 7th. He has since been heard of at Brandon.

Garibaldi has issued a proclamation, calling upon all parties to unite in the name of Italy and Victor Emmanuel as Dictator for the re-possession of Rome and Venice.

Austria is pouring troops into Venetia and Hungary in anticipation of an outbreak.

A Methodist church has been organized in Ohio, in which no stump speeches are allowed on Sunday. The administration churches refuse to recognize it.

The Little Rock Democrat says there are about fourteen thousand rebel soldiers in Arkansas, including guerrillas and camp followers.

The King of Denmark has called out his reserves, which increases his army to 40,500 men—three divisions of infantry, and one of cavalry and seven field batteries.

The President of one of the insurance companies of New York receives a salary of $20,000 a year.

A Dutchman's heart-rending soliloquy is described thus: "She lones Shon Mickle pitter as I, because he has got a couple tollers more as I has."

Who "Proclaimed War?"

The New York Times, an accredited leading Republican paper, in its issue of the 6th, inst., in an editorial taking issue with THADDEUS STEVENS for stating that the Rebel States are belligerents and "that they are no longer in the Union," writes this down as a fact that can not be gainsaid: "The Confederacy" wanted peace, and sent Commissioners to Washington to secure it. We would not receive them, and proclaimed war. They accepted War. The question who fired the first gun is nothing."

This is rather a strange confession. We have been generally told that the Rebels proclaimed and commenced the War. This Republican authority says that we proclaimed the War, and that the Rebels accepted it. Probably the people will get at the truth after awhile.

PANSON BROWNLOW is reported dangerously ill, at Knoxville.

Advices from Nashville say that persons who arrived there on Wednesday from Knoxville report that communication with Cumberland Gap is cut off, and that nearly all that part of East Tennessee is in possession of the rebels.

Tories Then and Tories Now.

During that terrible struggle for American Independence, there was a class of individuals, friends to the old government, whom we now call Tories, who acted as spies and informers upon the acts, sayings and doings of our revolutionary fathers. They were scattered all over the country, ostensibly the friends of the colonies, but in reality the aiders and abettors of tyranny and despotism, laboring to overthrow the rights and liberties of the people; they declared that Britain was the only just friend of America; every unjust and tyrannical act of the King was justified, upheld and sustained by them, under the plea of necessity. They claimed that the colonies could be justly taxed at will of the King, for "the benefit of the best government on earth;" that he was right in declaring us rebels, right in taxing us, right in declaring his right to bind the colonies in all cases whatsoever; they were believers in a "strong government." Though the history of the King of Great Britain was a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States, yet, strange as it may seem to him who truly loves his country and is ever watchful of her liberties, his acts of usurpation were vindicated; he was in all things upheld and sustained, and indeed justified by the Tories of that day. They denounced all persons who opposed the King or had the manliness to question the justice of the unjust mandates of his royal highness, as foes to the country, as traitors and rebels. These traitorous tools of King George—the provost marshals, the attorneys of the crown, the stamp masters, stamp agents, &c., &c., of that day—the real Tories and traitors of the revolution, who would yield up everything to crush the rebel, even to life, liberty and property—these despicable creatures, the foes of manhood, whose patriotism is only equalled by that of the republicans and abolitionists to-day—have come down to us a stench in the nostrils of history, their memories detested and despised by every good and every honest man.

Much is said at this time about Tories and traitors. Everybody is a Tory who does not sustain this negro-worshipping Administration, and justify to its fullest extent, all the abominable acts and doings of the party in power. But when we compare their acts and doings with those of the Tories of the revolution, it is easy to determine who are and who are not the real Tories of to-day. The parallel between the two is almost identical. What is the history of King Lincoln? A history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has erected a multitude of new offices and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance. He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, unacknowledged by our laws, giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation.

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us for any murders which they may commit on the inhabitants of these States.

For arresting peaceable and unoffending citizens without due process of law.

For suspending the writ of habeas corpus throughout the several States.

For depriving us of the benefit of trial by jury.

For transporting us beyond the jurisdiction of a State to be tried for pretended offense, or to be imprisoned at will.

For imposing taxes upon us without our consent.

For abolishing the free system of American laws in the neighboring States, establishing therein absolute governments without the consent of their legislatures or of the people.

For abolishing our most valuable laws and altering fundamentally the powers of our government.

He has ravaged our coasts, burned our towns and destroyed the lives of our people.

He has constrained our fellow citizens to become the executioners of their brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrection amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless (negro) savages, whose known rule of warfare is the undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

We have enumerated but few, very few, of the unwarranted, unconstitutional and tyrannical acts of the reckless tyrant that now fills with paradoxical vacancy the chair once filled by Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, and Jackson. Old King George, when compared with Abraham Lincoln, appears in proper light. If George III was a great tyrant, Abraham Lincoln is a much greater one; for surely the acts of the Administration at Washington would make King George blush and hang his head with shame; yet wonderful to relate, all the unwarrantable usurpations of power on the part of the Executive, are justified, and every act of tyranny upheld by the abolition party, the Tories and traitors of to-day, the provost marshals, the military governors, the stamp masters, stamp agents, federal collectors, assessors and sub-assessors, the law officers of King Lincoln I. These hirelings of despotism tell us we must sustain our government, that honest Old Abe is the friend of the people, that we must yield up everything to save the country, to put down this wicked rebellion and save "the best government on earth;" that we must sacrifice life, liberty and property, submit to taxation, stamp acts, stamp duties, high tariffs, anything and everything, for what purpose? to carry on a most wicked, unjust, unnecessary civil war, which they have inaugurated, and which they boldly declare is to liberate four millions of ignorant, semi-barbarous African slaves, to wipe out State sovereignty, to change fundamentally our forms and systems of government; in fine, to overthrow the constitution and destroy the rights and liberties of a once free and independent people. And when we question the justice or necessity of this war, when we avow ourselves in favor of liberty, and demand that our rights and liberties be respected, these traitors and Tories of to-day, while wading to their knees in the blood of more than three hundred thousand of their slaughtered countrymen, while liberty is violated, stabbed and bleeding at their feet, and they stand with their arms to the elbows in the public treasury, robbing, stealing, plundering from the tolling masses—these fawning sycophants denounce every man who whispers "peace on earth, good will to men," as traitors, secessionists, rebels, copperheads, buttneruts, &c., and deserving imprisonment in a bastille, or hanging.

1776 and 1864; what a striking similarity between then and now; there was a Lord North then, there is a Lord North now; we had a king and despotism then, we have the same thing now; we had a rebellion then against "the best government on earth" we have a rebellion now against "the best government on earth;" we had taxation then, we have taxation now. The rebels of that day believed that governments derived their just powers from the consent of the governed, the rebels of to-day believe the same thing; the government then declared the right to bind the colonies in all cases whatsoever, our government now declares the same thing; we had Tories then who declared the government could rightfully exercise such unwarrantable jurisdiction over these States, and we have Tories now who declare the same thing, we had a stamp act then, and some Tories corrupt enough to accept the office of stamp agent under it, and have similar things now; our rebel forefathers compelled them to resign, and burned them in effigy in almost every city, town, and hamlet in the land, while their children blessed them for it.

The friends of constitutional liberty, those who are being denounced as traitors, Tories and rebels now, will ere long rise up in their majesty and strength and compel those hirelings of despotism in our midst to resign, and be burnt in effigy in imitation of the glorious past, while our children and our children's children, to the latest generation, will bless our memories for it. Can any one fail to see that the only real foes to the Constitution, to liberty and to law, in this country, the real Tories of to-day, the perfidious authors of all our national troubles and calamities, are the Republicans and Abolitionists?—that party that touches but to destroy, that rules but to ruin?

COMMON SENSE, Jr.
Upper Uwehlan, Jan. 25th, 1864.

(Telegraphic Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.)

From Frankfort, Ky.

Mr. Bell, from the Select Committee, to whom the subject was referred, reported the following resolution: on Federal affairs.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That this State make no further exhibition, by way of political resolutions, of her intense loyalty, or of her sincere and unalterable devotion to the National Union. Her stand has been taken after the maturest deliberation, and it is known to the world. She will not prove recreant by taking any backward step, but will go forward with all her resources of men, money, and credit, to the support of our gallant armies in the field, till the rebellion is subdued and treason disarmed; and she will, through the peaceful mode prescribed by the fundamental laws of the land, use her efforts to correct any errors that may have been committed either by the Executive or the legislative departments of the Government.

Resolved, That we regard as impolitic the enlistment of negroes as soldiers into the armies of the United States, and we earnestly protest against their enlistment within the State of Kentucky; and we respectfully request the President of the United States to remove from our limits and borders all camps for negro soldiers by which our slaves are enticed to leave the service of their owners.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this General Assembly, the legal status of the States in rebellion, as regards the Union, was not changed by the criminal action of their people in attempting to secede, thus forcing a civil war upon the people of the country; and when the people of any or all these States shall in good faith return to their allegiance, their States, as before the war are members of the great American Union, and the people thereof are citizens, all subject to the Constitution and laws of the United States.

Mr. Bell has the floor, and will advocate these resolutions to-morrow.

Destruction of the French Bastille by the Enraged People.

A LESSON FOR THE STUDY OF AMERICAN TYRANTS OF THE PRESENT DAY.

"The Bastille of Paris was a royal Castle, built by Charles V. King of France, completed in 1383, for the defence of Paris against the English. It was afterwards used as a State prison, like the Tower of London," (and Fort Lafayette), "and became the scene of the most deplorable suffering and frightful crimes. It was of such strength that Henry IV, and his veteran army assailed it in vain in the siege of Paris, during the intestine war which desolated France, between the years 1578 and 1594; yet it was pulled down by the infuriated populace, July 14, 1789; and thus was commenced the French Revolution. On the capture of this great monument of slavery, the governor, and other officers, were seized, and taken to the PLACE DE GREVE, and having had their hands cut off, were then beheaded. The furious citizens, having fixed their heads on pikes carried them in triumph through the streets. 'The man with the iron mask,' the most mysterious prisoner ever known, died here, Nov. 19, 1793."

I may add for the instruction of your readers, that the key of the old dungeon was presented by Lafayette to Gen. Washington, and it is now at Mount Vernon.

THE PRIVATEER FLORIDA.—The Paris Journal La France reports that the rebel privateer Florida has challenged the U. S. war steamer Kearsage to a fair fight, which the latter having accepted, they intend to go a few miles out to sea and settle their differences at cannon range. Another account states that the challenge was given by the commander of the Kearsage and accepted by the captain of the Florida. The Rappahannock still lies at Calais, and there is still hope that the French authorities will not allow her to depart. M. Drouyn de Lhuys, in his correspondence with Mr. Davis, upon the subject, acknowledges that there is a distinction to be made between the position occupied by the Florida and Georgia, which came into French ports for repairs, and the Rappahannock, which entered Calais to fit out as a vessel-of-war.

At a meeting of the Ladies of Maysville, held at the Goddard House Parlor, Monday afternoon, February 15th, 1864, Mrs. E. F. Fleming was elected President, and Mrs. Culbertson and Mrs. J. Shackleford were elected Vice Presidents.

The object of the meeting having been stated to be for the purpose of making arrangements to assist the Neptune Fire Company with their Fair and Supper, which is to take place on the night of the 22nd of February, a motion was made and carried to appoint committees of three from each ward to solicit donations of eatables and money from the citizens of their respective wards. The President appointed the committee as follows:

1st Ward—Mrs. G. W. Sulser, Mrs. C. G. Cady, Mrs. Simon Myers.
2nd Ward—Mrs. Wm. Fleming, Miss Lizzie Read, Miss Annie Ficklin.
3rd Ward—Mrs. Geo. H. Wheeler, Mrs. Roch Robb, Mrs. B. Farrow.
4th Ward—Mrs. W. H. Savage, Miss Alice Bascom, Miss Sallie Clarke.

Ordered that all the committee be requested to report to Mrs. E. Fleming at 2 o'clock Saturday the 30th.

Tickets for the Masquerade Ball can be had at S. Salomon's office.

ACCIDENT.—On last Saturday evening while firing a salute for the return of the Sixteenth Kentucky Regiment. The cannon became so heated, that it went off prematurely, the ramrod shattering the arm of Richard Archdeacon, and injuring his hand so badly, it was found necessary to amputate two of his fingers on the right hand.

THANKS.—Hon. L. W. Powell, will please accept our thanks for public comments.

A good portion of the town of Beaufort, S. C., was sold last month for unpaid taxes, and a few negroes were among the principal purchasers.

The President's recent call for 500,000 men is intended to include the last draft and clear up arrearages.

The Return of the 16th Ky.

The 16th Kentucky Regiment returned to their homes on Saturday last. They met with a very warm reception by their numerous friends in this part of the country. The citizens of Maysville gave them a testimonial of joy over their return by having ready for them an excellent dinner, gotten up in the best style.

GO TO THE FIREMEN'S SUPPER NEXT MONDAY NIGHT.

The Senate Special Committee on Slavery have decided to report a bill legalizing the President's Emancipation Proclamation.

Fifteen dollars an hour was the price for the use of a horse and sleigh in Washington during the sleighing season.

A Philharmonic Society is now in the process of organization in our city. Two or three preliminary meetings have been held and the prospects are good. It is proposed to make it a permanent organization, and Mr. Albert has very kindly consented to become its Conductor. On Monday evening last Rev. Mr. Garco presented Constitution and By-Laws, and these will be resubmitted at the next meeting, on Friday evening, at Mr. Albert's.

It is proposed to elect the officers, President, Secretary and Treasurer, quarterly.

In connection with the Philharmonic Society, a Maennerchor will probably be organized. This Society should embrace all the Musical talent of our city, as under the direction of Mr. Albert, it will be a source of much pleasure and profit.

Neptune Fair and Supper.

The ladies of this city, will hold a Fair and Supper, for the benefit of the NEPTUNE FIRE COMPANY, on Monday evening, Feb. 22d, the proceeds to go towards completing their new Hall. Contributions of all kinds, sent to their Hall on Monday, will be very acceptable. We know every one feels interested in behalf of the Firemen, and we hope that all will consider it their duty, as well as a pleasure to attend.

The President's stables, located between the Treasury Department and the Executive Mansion, were destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The carriages were saved, but six horses perished in the flames.

SLAVERY THE CAUSE OF WAR.—This is a favorite expression of the abolitionists, and it would really seem to have some truth in it. Slavery existed in all the States but one at the formation of the Union. The slave trade was then monopolized by New England. The Southern States opposed the traffic; and by congressional compromise Massachusetts and New England were granted twenty years more to carry on and wind up their business in the slave trade. If this had not been done; if Massachusetts had been permitted to employ her vessels and humanitarians in the capture of heathen niggers to the present time, it is thought they would have been satisfied to let the Union remain unbroken and undisturbed by a war for the destruction of all that the friends of the Constitution and the Union hold. But they were deprived of the profits arising from stealing niggers from Africa and selling them South, and out of revenge to their Southern neighbors for their opposition to the slave trade, they determined on destruction, death and devastation.

UNCURRENT MONEY.—The Union Bank of this city refused to receive yesterday one ten dollar bill of the First National Bank, Philadelphia, and two five dollar bills of the First National Bank, Washington, in part payment of a note—Troy Whig.

"Tommy, what does b-a-n-c-h spell?" "Don't know, ma'am." "What, you little numskull, what are you sitting on?" "Tommy (looking sheepish)—"I don't like to tell."

There is a family at Medway, Mass., consisting of eleven members, into which death has never entered. The father is ninety-two years old, the mother eighty-nine, one child sixty five, another forty-three, and their united ages are six hundred and seventy-six years.

EXECUTION OF A WOMAN.—The English papers contain an account of the execution of Alice Hewitt, at Chester, for the murder of her mother. She induced a neighbor to personate her mother, and, by this means, obtained an insurance upon her life. She then killed her mother by the administration of poison. Some three or four thousand persons were present at the execution. She fell upon her knees, and prayed that her infant child might be spared a similar fate, and that her death might be a warning to others. Executions of females in this country are of rare occurrence. Last year one was executed in Canada with her husband for murder. In Boston during the last century a woman was hung for theft.

MARRIED. On the 16th inst., by Eld. C. Keyes, at the residence of the bride's Father, Mr. JOHN P. RICKARDS and Miss SALLIE N. OUTTEN, all of this city.

The above notice was accompanied by delicate remembrances to the editors, in the form of the bridal cake, which all hands in the office partook of in a manner attesting that it was good as looked. May the youthful bride tread the pathway of life together, knowing no sorrow and meeting no disappointments, but realizing all ways that the poet has so beautifully expressed. "O, happy bark float calmly on, As down life's stream you glide; May Heaven shower its blessing on The bride-groom and the bride."

DIED. In Mason county, Ky., on Thursday evening, Feb. 11th, 1864, Miss NANCY LASHBROOKE, in the Seventy-fifth year of her age. In this city, on Tuesday morning, February 15th, 1864, EMMA A., eldest daughter of ROBERT C. and LIZZIE A. ROSS, aged six years, one month and six days.

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. IT IS NOT A DYE.

It restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty, promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agents, D. S. Barnes & Co., 202 Broadway, New-York. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1. [oct17-3mo.]

WYNKOOP'S ICELAND PECTORAL.

Diseases of the Throat, Chest and Pulmonary organs are ever prevalent, insidious and dangerous. The properties of a medicine to alleviate, cure and protect these complaints, must be Expectorant, Anodyne and Invigorating, loosening the mucus of the throat, and imparting tone to the entire system. No discovery in medical science ever mastered this class of diseases like Dr. Wynkoop's Iceland Pectoral. It is used with the most astonishing results in all cases of Bronchitis, influenza, Whooping Cough, Diptheria or Parotid, Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, Coughs, Colds, Nervous Irritability, &c. The Rev. J. J. Potter certifies, "that I have used Dr. Wynkoop's Pectoral for several years, myself and in my family, for severe Pulmonary Complaints, and have recommended it to many others, and have never seen its equal." Rev. J. J. Potter, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hundreds and thousands of important testimonials could be produced, showing its remarkable cures and that it never fails. It is composed of pure Iceland-Moss, Balm of Gilead, Peruvian Balsam, Eucalyptus, Conifer, Burdock, and other invaluable expectorant and tonic ingredients. It is harmless, prompt and lasting. Invalids and sufferers cannot afford to neglect a trial. Full descriptions, recommendations and directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all principal Druggists. Prepared by Dr. R. D. Wynkoop, and sold by D. S. Barnes & Co. New-York. [oct1-6m.]

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary skin and hair dressing ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the distinctive appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers. It is what every lady should have.—Sold everywhere.

MULLINS & HUNT'S NEW WHOLESALE DRY GOODS STORE!

THE SUBSCRIBERS, LONG ESTABLISHED in a large retail Dry Goods business in Maysville, would call the attention of Country Merchants to their recent addition of an extensive Wholesale Department; which will be conducted on a STRICTLY CASH PRINCIPLE.

The many years of experience possessed by our buyer, combined with a perfect knowledge of the Kentucky trade, a thorough acquaintance with all the Manufacturing and Importing Houses in the East, and the fact of our purchases being made for "Cash," together with a firm determination to sell at a mere commission advance on Eastern Cost, will be sufficient guarantee to CLOSE CASH BUYERS that we cannot be undersold by any WESTERN JOB-BING HOUSE.

Our Stock will be found better adapted to the wants of our customers than it is usual to find in the generality of JOBBING HOUSES; as it will embrace a greater variety of goods than is ordinarily met with in an exclusive Wholesale Establishment. The departments allotted to HATS AND CAPS AND

Notions, Will be at all times especially attractive as particular attention will be paid to them, and a LARGE STOCK

Kept constantly on hand. We would impress upon our friends that in sending us orders they may rely upon having them executed to the fullest extent of our ability.

The following is a sample of the testimony daily received.

SOLDIER'S HOME, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE. (CINCINNATI, O., January 15, 1863.)

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble Soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is most marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field.

G. W. D. ANDREWS, Superintendent

WILLARD'S HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22, 1863.

GENTLEMEN: We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, SYKES, CHADWICK & CO.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8, 1862.

I have been afflicted with Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia that I was compelled to abandon my business. I used three bottles of the Plantation Bitters, and to my astonishment am entirely cured. They are the best medicine I ever used, and I shall endeavor to make them known. Please inform me what S.-T. -1860-X means. Yours truly, H. B. KINGSLEY.

Dr. W. A. Childs, surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes: "I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

GALT HOUSE, LOUISVILLE, KY. Dec 21, '62.

Messrs P. H. DRAKE & Co. We are compelled to order 12 doz. Plantation Bitters to supply friends who have no other way of procuring this admirable article.

Respectfully yours, SILAS F. MILLER & Co. Proprietors.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Dec 21, 1861.

The Plantation Bitters have cured me of the worst kind of dyspepsia of near four years standing. I have recommended them to others, and as far as I know with signal success. I am, &c. Rev. J. S. CATRON.

BURNETT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, Ohio. Dec. 20, 1862

Messrs DRAKE & Co. The Plantation Bitters appears to be very popular here. Send us twenty cases more, and oblige.

Yours truly, T. P. SAUNDERS & Co.

Delicate female requiring a gentle stimulant, and clergymen, lawyers and students exhausted by mental labor, will find the Plantation Bitters a most beneficial tonic.

"OLD MAIDS."
"Let them anatomize Ragan, and see what brains he has. Is there any cause in nature that makes these hard hearts?"
KING LEAN.
It is a very general supposition that those women steering characterized old maids are heartless, but so far as my observation goes, they have really the best and tenderest hearts that I have been made acquainted with.
That they have not married is very seldom owing to the want of opportunity, though in some instances this may be the case, for usually their talents are not of that flashy and showy order most appreciable to men.
One excellent quality they are almost always found possessed of—good common sense—a strong evidence of it exists in the fact of their being old maids—they estimate wisely the needs of their natures, and prudently prefer their maiden meditations, fancy free, to the selling of their birthrights for a mess of pottage. A thousand times they have seen their more credulous sisterhood essay the experiment of making a silk purse out of a sow's ear (the readers will pardon allusion to the homely adage), and they are satisfied it cannot be done, without themselves waiving their notable stickwork.
They understand very well that the position they occupy is not the highest and noblest one ordained for women, but they cannot see that it would mend matters at all to make themselves up into merchantable articles, advertise themselves for sale, be appropriated by the highest bidder, to darn his stockings, roast his potatoes, or preside in his drawing-room, as the case might require, especially when to gain this bad eminence, if it be an eminence, they are required to make oath of everlasting allegiance to their master—nay, more, to love and honor as well as obey—as if to love and honor could be imposed upon woman by any requisition except the law of her heart, though she swore to do so by every star in heaven.
To the opprobrious epithet, old maid, a dozen uncharitable accusations join themselves immediately, for by the dint of sneer and jeer it has come to be believed almost universally, that a woman who is past twenty-five, and is unmarried, feeds upon scandal, tears out the eyes of pretty young women and children—drains the teacup, and bestows all the little charity she has upon cats!
I have known in the course of my life a good many old maids, and I cannot now recall a single one whose life was not a contradiction of the lies that closed about her like an atmosphere—I recall several of the most modest, self-sacrificing and exemplary women it has ever been my happiness to know.
Who of all the neighbors is likeliest to be sent for to take charge of the family when the wife and mother goes away visiting?—who is called on when the fever breaks out?—who makes the shroud, and lends her one black silk dress and crêpe shawl, over and over without grudging? Why, in almost every instance, it is one of that abused class whose hearts are truer and tenderer, and whose hands are readier to do what they find to do, than any other hands... Scarcely a family is there that has not at some time found one of these pious and excommunicated women ministering angel. And yet, after all, "the hungry generations tread them down," carelessly as ever—because, forsooth, they are unmarried!—Though why marriage should be so distinguishing an honor when it is simply the result of a scheme, or the consummation of a contract, as too often happens, I cannot for the life of me understand, though no one shall exceed me in reverent homage of that most beautiful of the ordinances of life, when it is beautiful. I have no slur to cast upon it—heaven forbid that ever I should "to the marriage of true minds admit impediments," much less impose them—but the counterfeit is always base, and it is that I war against.
The scoundrel rose manufactured of painted paper or muslin is never ask to that bright blushing flower whose root is in the earth, and whose breath makes the air so delicate a luxury, than the marriage of chance or convenience, to that of love.—Woman is naturally timid, shrinking above all things from ridicule, against which she is least able to defend herself, and I believe and regret to believe, that the fear of that opprobrium which comes with a damning certainty, often before the first grey hair, has driven many and many an one into that most despicable and miserable sham of shame—unsanctified marriage.
All credit to those say I, who have the courage to brave expatriation—the strength to resist temptation, and wear meekly and unobtrusively that most beautiful ornament woman can wear—truth. And she is true to the best aspirations of her nature—true to her purest convictions who keeps her heart for the heaven above her, if she can find it in the world below. If she does not find it here, it is her misfortune, not her fault, and why on this account she should be the laughing-stock, except of devils of fools, I am at a loss to conceive. If the shame and dishonor were bestowed where they are due—upon those women who "have subdued nature to such lowliness" as to barter body and soul for a silk gown and a mutton chop—if they fell like thunderbolts, and "singed the old white heads" that bargain daily for youth and beauty—there would be less sneering at old maids; but, as it is, their merits are not for the fashions of the times, and "when I desired leave that I might pity them, they took from me the use of mine own house; charged me on pain of their perpetual displeasure, neither to speak of them, nor to treat them, nor in any way sustain them."
"I think I now see a new feature in this case," as the lawyer said, when his client informed him that he had plenty of money.
WHAT GOVERNMENT COSTS IN EUROPE.—Great Britain is most expensive, Englishmen pay at the rate of thirteen dollars and seventy-five cents per head, for being governed while the Swiss pay but ten dollars and seventy-five cents per head for the same convenience. The French pay a little more than ten dollars; and our worthy ancestors, the Hollanders, pay twelve dollars and a quarter. If the national debt of Great Britain was equally divided among the population, every man, woman and child would owe one hundred and forty dollars. Switzerland has no public debt. The French owe about sixty-five dollars, and the Russians about twenty-two dollars per head.
The golden dews of corruption fall not on the head of a patriot.

Origin of Seeing the Elephant.
Some years since at one of the Philadelphia theaters, a pageant was in rehearsal in which it was necessary to have an elephant. No elephant was to be had. The wild beasts were all traveling, and the proprietor, stage director, and manager, all most had fled when their thought of it. Days passed in the hopeless task of trying to secure one; but at last Yankee ingenuity triumphed, as indeed it always does, and an elephant was made to order, of wood, skins, paint, and varnish. Thus far the matter was all very well; but as yet they found no means to make said combination travel. Here again the genius of the manager, the stage director, and property man stuck out, and two 'broths' were duly installed as legs. Ned C., one of the true and genuine 'broys', held the station of fore-legs and for several nights he played that heavy part to the entire satisfaction of the managers and the delight of the audience.
The part, however, was a very tedious one, as the elephant was obliged to be on the stage about an hour, and Ned was rather too fond of the bottle to remain so long without waiting his whistle, so he set his wits to work to find a way to carry a wee drop with him. The eyes of the elephant being made of two porter bottles, with the neck in. Ned conceived the brilliant idea of filling them with good stuff. This he fully carried out, and elated with success, he willingly undertook to play fore-legs again.
Night came on—the theatre was densely crowded with the denizens of the Quarter city—the music was played in the sweetest strains—the curtain rose and the play began. Ned and the hind-legs marched upon the stage. The elephant was greeted with round upon round of applause. The decorations and the trappings were gorgeous.—The elephant, and the prince seated upon his back were loudly cheered.
The play proceeded; the elephant was marched round and round upon the stage. The fore-legs got dry, withdrew one of the corks and treated the hind-legs, and then drank the health of the audience in a bumper of genuine elephant eye whisky, a brand, by the way, till then unknown. On went the play and on went Ned drinking. The conclusion march was to be made—the signal was given and the fore-legs staggered towards the front of the stage, the conductor pulled the ears of the elephant to the right—the fore-legs staggered to the left.—The footlights obstructed the way, and he raised his foot and stepped plump into the orchestra! Down went the fore-legs on to the leader's fiddle; over of course, turned the elephant, sending the prince and hind-legs into the middle of the pit. The managers stood horror-struck; the prince and hind-legs lay confounded, the boxes in convulsions, the actors choking with laughter, and poor Ned casting one look, a strange blending of drunkenness, grief and laughter at the scene, fled hastily out of the wreck of his fiddle, performing various cut and thrust notions in the air. The curtain dropped on a scene behind the scenes. No more pageant—no more fore-legs—but everybody held their sides. Music, actors, pit, boxes, and gallery, rushed from the theatre shrieking between every breath, "Have you seen the Elephant?"—Miners Journal.
MASSACHUSETTS PROSPERS.—The city of Lawrence is thriving as never before. The mills are running over hours, and the great want is more help.—Boston Post.
Lawrence, Massachusetts. It is the same way with all the manufacturing towns of New England. They are all making money, (as they have never made it before,) by reason of the high tariff and the war. The money they make so rapidly is mostly extracted from the West, whose people are growing poor from the same causes from which New England is growing rich. To add insult to injury, the Governor of Massachusetts proposed, in his recent message, that the State ought not to be required to furnish any more men for the war; that her systems or industry required her men at home, and that the Federal government would be benefited by leaving them at home and seeking for men in States which could better spare them!
Chicago Times.
SLEIGHT OF HAND.—Refusing an offer of marriage.
A TRYING MOMENT.—When your new coat comes home from the tailor's.—Punch.
Stupid people eat better than they talk. Their mouths are excellent banks of deposit, but poor banks of issue.
Religion is like a river, which widens and deepens as it goes, being broadest and deepest at its mouth, where it rolls into the ocean of eternity.
An Irishman says that Scotland far surpasses China in its productions, as it always has a whole river of Tay running through it.
WONDERFUL, IF TRUE.—A pamphlet is just published which broaches the marvellous theory that a man is what a woman makes him. According to the author's dictum, we presume that when a wife makes her husband a pudding he is a pudding.
Forney says that Mrs. Lincoln was dressed with such angelic taste at the last levee at the White House, that he was dumb with admiration of her appearance. This was not the first instance on record where an ass's mouth was stopped looking at an Angel. Vide the history of Balaam in the Old Testament.
MATRIMONIAL CHANGES.—A lady who was very modest and taciturn before marriage was observed by a friend to use her tongue pretty freely afterwards. "There was a time," said he, "when I almost imagined she had none." "Yes," said her husband, with a sigh, "but it's very long since."
